Hey Spike.
Sabrina.
Amy!
Sabrina!
Thanks for giving me a ride home.
Thomas needed to use the car today.
No problem - seemed like the least I could do, and I thought we could use the time to catch up a bit.
Amy, I'm sorry. I know I've barely been in touch at all since-
Hey, Don't worry about it!
I know as well as anyone how having a child turns your life upside-down.
Yeah, but-
Yo, babe!
Hi honey.
Huh?
Carli !?
SABRINA ?!

I didn't expect to see you!
I KNOW! It's been Forever!
What are you doing here?
I'm waiting for my man to finish his bouncer shift. We have a big evening planned!
You have kids, don't you? Is someone watching them?
I was lucky and found a babysitter who hasn't blacklisted my family yet.
I better remember to give her a really good tip when we get back.
So what are you doing here? I didn't think you were a bar person.
I was on my way out, actually. I'm giving Amy a ride home.
Oh, that's too bad. I was kinda hoping we could hang out for a bit and catch up.
Really?
Hey, if you two wanna spend a little extra time here, I've got no problem with that.
That'd be great!
We can all hang out and dish, but first,
What the hell is up with all this!?
What are you talking about?

Is it really so strange for me to change up my grooming from time to time?
Sabrina, you've looked almost exactly the same for as long as I've known you.
You change looks so seldomly, you could roam the country in a van solving mysteries!
Well, I just thought maybe I'd try something new and different for once.
No, really. What happened?
OK, so it was tough to get my hair done during the pandemic lockdown.
I could trim the hair in front without too much trouble, but I couldn't work on the back by myself, so RC took a whack at it.
You know how it is when the hair is uneven, so you trim it, and then it's too short on that side, so you trim the other side, and so on and so on until...
Uh-oh.
'UH-OH' !?
Eh, it doesn't look that bad.
I like it myself.
Thankfully it's grown out some since then.
You should keep it! It makes you look younger.
No way!
Well that explains the hair, but I was actually more curious about those.
Oh. It's just getting tougher to find fur-print pants in my size anymore.

I brought some chips, pretzels, and water - everything that won't come out of my paycheck.
Thanks.
So, how are things going with that daughter of yours?
Danielle's doing pretty well. She's at home with RC right now.
She's learning to talk, and speaking more and more all the time.
Really? That young?
Wow! My kids are older than yours, and they're not much beyond chattering and growling!
It's not as good as it sounds. She's kind of single-minded about what she says.
Dad! Phone!
Phone Dad!
Not right now. You have to finish dinner first, and then we'll talk.
Dad, PHONE!
I said no, Danielle.
Dad phone!
Daddy!
Father, I want to use the phone.
Y'know, this would all be very impressive if you could just find something else to talk about!
Phone, NOW!

What about your kids, Carli? I don't think I know anything about them other than that you have them.
Well, I have thirteen kids, and-
HOLY-!
Thirteen!?
Yeah, well chinchillas aren't known for having large litters, but my man is just super potent, it seems.
That's... that's just... Damn!
Yeah... I looked a bit like a train wreck after the birth.
Whoa, that's hard to even imagine! How do you keep track of that many kids?
It's a full-time job, believe me.
I don't think I could even remember that many names!
Oh that part's easy enough.
There's Shaun, Karen, Victor, Hector,
Harold, Justin, Raoul, Astoria, Marissa, Auggie,
Elise, uhh...
Chip,
and Chase.
Amazing.
Jeez, one child's enough of a challenge for me. Thirteen must really keep you on your toes!
That's why Spike and I arranged this time away. We seriously needed a break!
I'll bet! What do you have planned for the evening?
We will be having a quiet dinner for two, then a trip to a motel for a short hump and at least five hours of uninterrupted sleep!

I know we haven't talked in a good while, but it seems like you've changed, don't you think?
How do you mean?
Well you used to talk constantly, and talk fast! I'd get tired just trying to keep up.
But not any more, huh?
You also used to use a lot more slang, talking about something was '1337' or 'PWNage' or whatever. I think you're the only one I know who said "ROFLMAO" in real life.
SNRK!
I guess I have grown some since then.
The problem with net slang is it's constantly changing, so you either keep up, give up, or end up being the one going "How do you do, fellow kids?"
I think I know what you mean.
Besides, after having a family, I don't have the time for constant gaming and chat rooms like I used to.
I kept thinking "Exactly who am I trying to impress now, my husband and kids?"
I just don't have many people to talk to online anymore, and those I do have are too busy to talk to me!
Yeah... Sorry 'bout that.

So Amy, How is little Timmy doing? It's been so long since we all shared an apartment together.
Oh, Timmy's doing good. Timmy is... Timmy.
Is he walking and talking?
Of course! He's like, almost five now.
Right. I knew that, really. I guess I still think of him as a baby.
Yes, Timmy speaks just fine. He just doesn't very often.
Is he still chewing up toys like before?
No, he takes very good care of his toys now, including the ones you left behind for him.
That's good to hear.
Maybe it sounds like bragging, but Timmy's becoming a really good kid - happy, considerate, and helpful around the house.
He's with Thomas at his work right now, probably trying to be as helpful as he can be.
Why thank you Timmy! That's exactly the variety I was looking for.
'kay.
Hey man, you sure it's cool to have yer kid here?
I don't see why not, boss. He stays sober, so after me, that makes him the most responsible worker here!
Yeah, but...
whut?

I guess I don't talk to you often enough!
Thomas works at a WEED shop?
Well, yes and no.
He does pretty much run the place though.
We were hurting for money, so Thomas was looking for any job he could find.
MAGICAL JOURNEY
BOUTIQUE OF STUFF & THINGS
GRO-LITES
The ad called for someone who "knows stuff about plants", and Thomas studied botany in school.
The place sold grow lights and pipes and stuff - everything but the pot itself, and Thomas was hired to help out and give advice to growers.
Personally, I think the owners just started up a shop so they could support their own habits.
They spent most of their time stoned, so Thomas did nearly all the work there, and got it running pretty smoothly.
Things really took off when the state legalized medical marijuana, and he put in the work to make the store a licensed dispensary.
So now the store's successful, and its founders developed sudden cases of acute glaucoma.
Heh, I'm curious. Did you two try out any of that stuff?
No - not first-hand, anyway.
There was a little confusion with some edibles, however.
THOMAS! THOMAS!!
Watch out for that small one over there! It's looking at me like it can read our thoughts!
Amy, where did you get that cookie?
It came from the snack counter at your store!
We don't have a snack counter. Those are prescription cookies!

So with the shop doing well, and my bartender job here, we're all managing pretty decent now.
So you guys did okay after I left the apartment?
I'm not gonna lie. Things were pretty rough right after you moved out. Money was super-tight.
PAST DUE
We didn't fully realize all the stuff you were paying for until you - weren't anymore.
Oh jeez, I'm sorry! I didn't know! I would've been happy to help out if you'd asked.
It's probably for the best that you didn't.
Sometimes it's too easy to become complacent without realizing it, y'know?
I think we needed a kick in the butt to set us in motion.
With you no longer supporting us, we became strongly motivated to find decent employment, and build our family's finances up again.
Well, I guess I'm glad I was able to help... by inadvertently screwing you over.
You're welcome.
Hee!

How did you and Thomas meet anyway?
I thought you already knew!
I remember you two were dating around the time I moved in with you, and I was kinda wrapped up in my own stuff too much to pay close attention.
Well, I was a senior at Ohio State then, and he was a sophomore.
Oh yeah! I sometimes forget he's a couple years younger than you.
Really? Nice!
Anyway, I was walking through the campus.
Apparently, he found some papers I had dropped.
He was kind enough to return them, and took the opportunity to ask me out.
We hit it off right away. He was kind and thoughtful, yet strong and sexy at the same time.
Wolf boyfriends are just the best, aren't they?
Hey, raccoons can be really good too!
We had several fun dates, and then took our relationship a step further.
Yeah, that's the part of the story I remember more clearly.
THUMP!
THUMP!
THUMP!
OH THOMAS!
OHHH!!!
AMIGA

So um, you and Thomas got married because of Timmy, right?
OH! Uh... well it was definitely a Factor, yeah.
Ooh, I'm sorry! I shouldn't have blurted that out like I just did.
No, It's OK.
What I mean is, we were eventually going to get married regardless.
My pregnancy did kind of accelerate the process, however.
Even so, we didn't end up having our wedding until after Timmy was born.
I remember that. He even disrupted the ceremony!
Babies'll do that.
heh, yeah.
My apologies if this was a sore subject.
I really wasn't thinking when I asked the question.
It doesn't bother me. Maybe it would have at one time, but not any more.
I would appreciate it if you don't mention any of this to my son, however.
Ah. - uh, yes.

Speaking of marriage Sabrina, I noticed you're not wearing your wedding ring. You're not trying to make people think you're available, are you?
What?
C'mon! I think you know me a little better than that!
Besides, you don't have yours on either! Why are you giving me a hard time?
OK, you got me.
I do have a reason though.
I started leaving my ring at home after a close call one night when I nearly lost it down the bar sink.
Also, I discovered I got better tips when I didn't have it on.
Well for me, I've never really been much for wearing jewelry - RC either. We could never get used to the rings, and kept accidentally knocking them against door frames and such.
We keep our rings in a small lock box at home.
Well, at least you have good reasons for not wearing your wedding rings.
It's better than just accepting that someone is too lazy to keep track of drawing them, anyway.
What about you, Carli? Why aren't you wearing a ring?
Yeah, well, one of the kids got to mine.
We've been staking out the toilet.

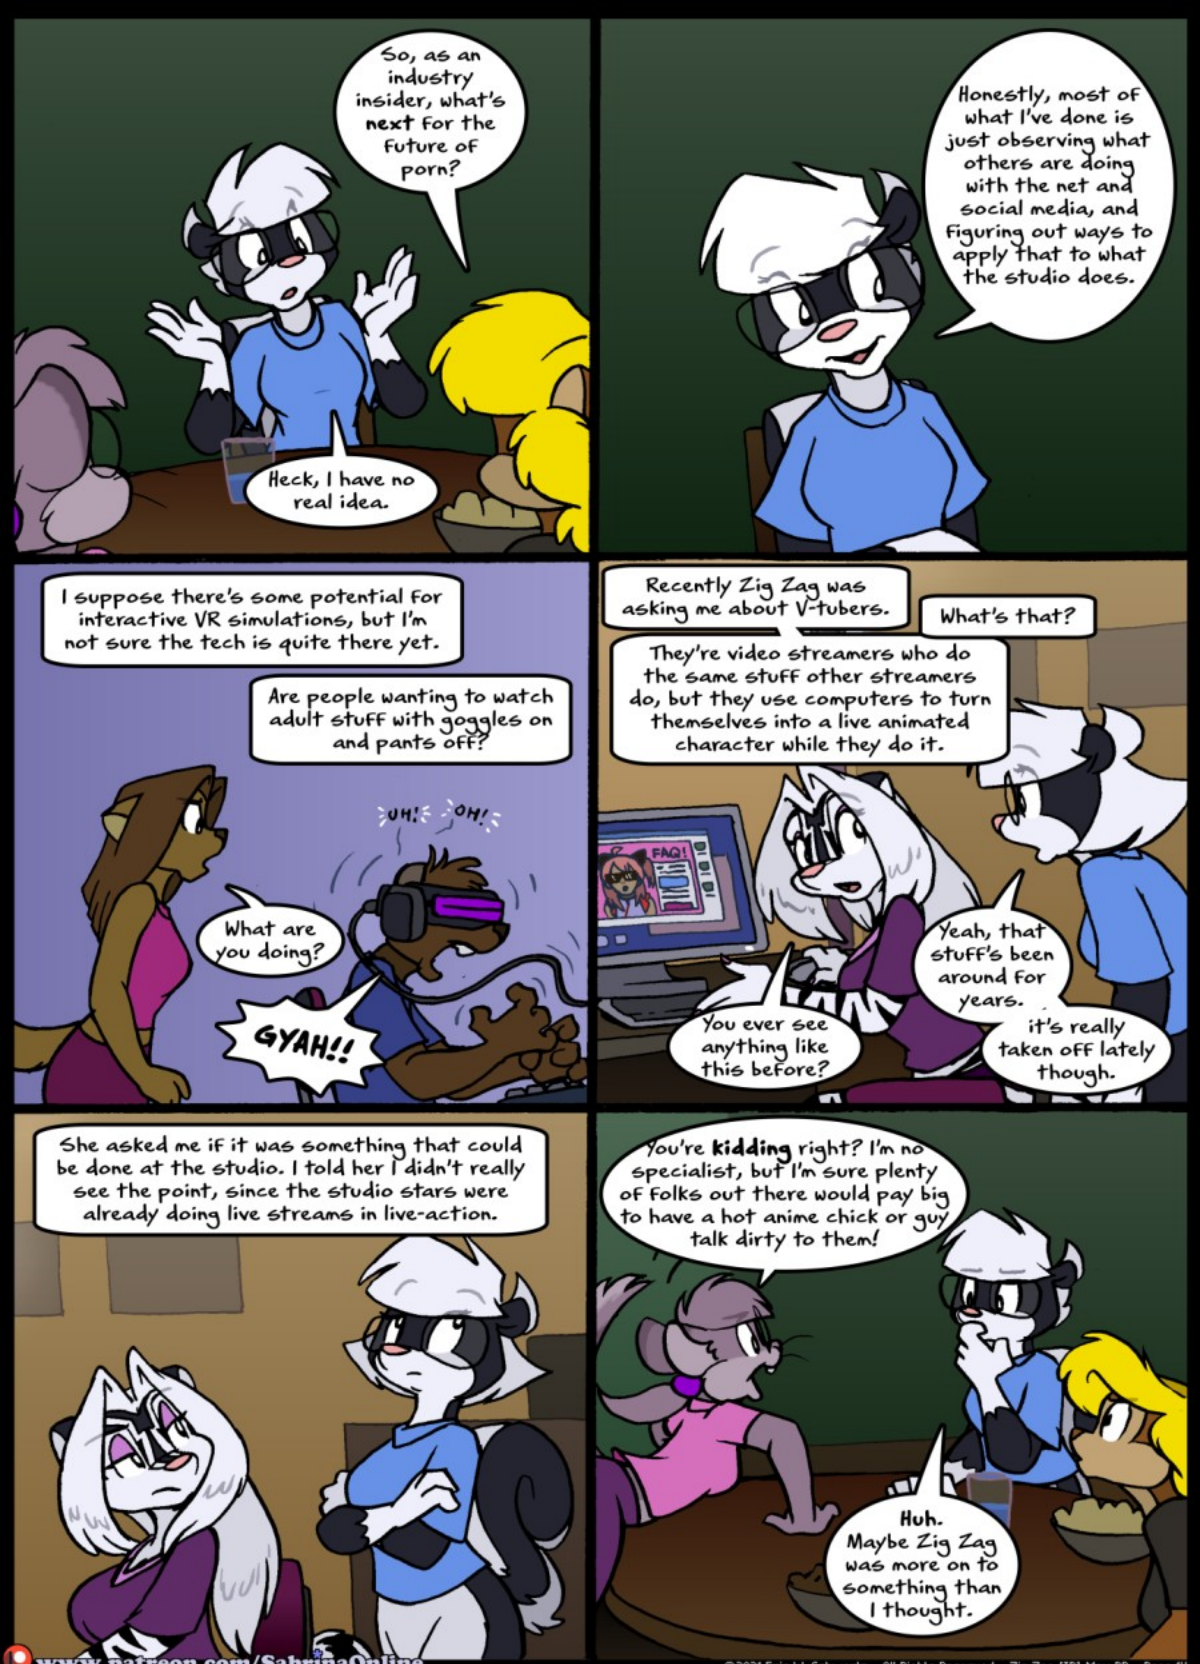
All else aside, I'm glad that you and Thomas have made your careers a success.
Well, it's nothing compared to you, miss porn studio tech czar!
What, really?
Well, sorta.
I used to think Zig Zag kept giving me raises and new job titles to get me to stick around, and maybe she was, but at least I took on new challenges and responsibilities trying to justify them.
When I first started there, the studio was mostly content to produce and sell DVDs and Blu-rays, and I helped push them into a stronger online platform.
They went from online video sales, to video on demand, and now a lot of live streaming, all based on my recommendations.
Oh! Thank you 'Vixensimp6969' for your generous donation!
I mean - maybe, maybe not, but it's entirely possible that without me, the studio could have gone under, or at least ended up severely behind the technology curve.
-but it's not like you're bragging, or anything!
HA!
Okay, okay, but I did become an indispensable porn studio worker without taking my clothes off. That's gotta count for something!
www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 13



So, as an industry insider, what's next for the future of porn?
Heck, I have no real idea.
Honestly, most of what I've done is just observing what others are doing with the net and social media, and figuring out ways to apply that to what the studio does.
I suppose there's some potential for interactive VR simulations, but I'm not sure the tech is quite there yet.
Are people wanting to watch adult stuff with goggles on and pants off?
UH!
OH!
What are you doing?
GYAH!!
Recently Zig Zag was asking me about V-tubers.
What's that?
They're video streamers who do the same stuff other streamers do, but they use computers to turn themselves into a live animated character while they do it.
FAQ!
Yeah, that stuff's been around for years.
it's really taken off lately though.
You ever see anything like this before?
She asked me if it was something that could be done at the studio. I told her I didn't really see the point, since the studio stars were already doing live streams in live-action.
You're kidding right? I'm no specialist, but I'm sure plenty of folks out there would pay big to have a hot anime chick or guy talk dirty to them!
Huh. Maybe Zig Zag was more on to something than I thought.

Sooooo...
What about you and Spike? How did you two pair up?
Well, I picked him up in a bar, not that different from this one.
This was back in the good old days, when I knew I was young, hot , and invincible.
I was planning to meet up with some college girlfriends, but they were unreliable Flakes, and Flaked on me.
I was enjoying some Long Island iced teas, had a bit of a buzz going, and that's when I saw... him.
Spike was working as a bouncer in the place, looking almost as magnificent as he does today.
So tall... So muscular and beefy,
I knew I had to have him.
I was feeling pretty confident thanks to the drinks, so I went up to him.
Hey there big boy, what time do you get OFF?
You wanna maybe do something later?
I don't think so.
My memory's kinda fuzzy about the whole thing, but like usual I was very smooth and persuasive.
C'mon! Please? I gotta know what it would be like with you!
Stop it lady!
What is WITH you!?

You're kind of a size queen, aren't you?
Hey, I married a wolf over twice as big as I am. I think that's obvious.
It's def what attracted me to Spike when I first saw him.
OMG! look at these arms! Look at that... I would love to spend the night with you!
Look miss, you're drunk.
Not much!
It's against policy to date the customers.
Is that really a thing?
It's against my policy.
Besides, look at you, and look at me. I would snap you like a twig! We wouldn't be compatible, and you're already being a tremendous pain in my ass, so you should really just leave me alone!
Oh yeah? Well I'm thinking maybe you're worried that you wouldn't be able to handle me!

I was able to convince Spike to take me home.
Mm! KISS
Mm! SMACK
Gonna do it! KISS
Gonna do me!! SMACK!
Calm down crazy lady.
Don't you dare go easy on me! I want everything you can give me!
Shut up. You're not the boss of me. I'll be as gentle as I want to be.
No way! I want you to wreck me! I want you to DESTROY me! I want to be completely PWN'ed!!
P- WHAT!?
I was still a tiny bit drunk, but it was a truly magical evening.
SLAM!
SLAM!

MARTHA! Check the news! Are they saying anything about earthquakes?
Uuuuhhhhhnnn... Best... night... ever!
Hey babe... would you mind doing me a little favor?
Hrmm?
Could you be a dear and... drive me to the hospital? I think maybe I might be paralyzed.

He put me in the hospital. That was pretty special.
What?
WHAT!?
Nothing's broken, thank goodness, but there is fairly extensive bruising, soft tissue trauma, and strained tendons.
What about her being unable to move?
That will go away once the shock to the system dies down, and the pain killers kick in.
Honestly though, you should be ashamed of yourself for taking advantage of this young lady!
Ahhh...
Someone your size and strength, you should've known this would happen!
Perhaps you enjoy overpowering those smaller than you, but-
HEY! Leave him alone!
If anyone took advantage of anyone, I took advantage of him!
I came on to him, and would NOT stop badgering him until he [redacted] the absolute [redacted] out of me!
So keep yer judgments to yourself, DOCTOR!
I have no one to blame for what happened to me but myself! and it was totally WORTH IT!!
Yeesh, whatever.
Thanks, I think.
Sorry to put you through all this.
By the way, what's your name?

Sex was off the table for a while until I could heal up, so instead we had some nice dates and talked - well I talked mostly, and Spike listened. He's a very good listener, and we learned a lot about each other during that time.
And, when we were finally ready to make love again... I ended up back in the hospital, but this time I healed up quicker!
You just don't learn, do you?
Look, if the lesson is NOT to get slammed by a hot giant wolf, I refuse to learn that!
Over time, we became quite skilled at NOT breaking me to pieces in bed, so I started dropping subtle hints that we should get married.
WEDDING DRESS CATALOG
It took several months, but I wore him down eventually.
That's not exactly what I expected. I don't know what I expected actually, but not that!
Well, ours is a pretty unique relationship. You see, I have this special talent for being annoying.
Oh, DO tell!
I'm very good at getting on Spike's nerves. I know to bug him just the right amount.
At the same time, he ignores me and acts like I'm not getting to him, 'cause he KNOWS that bugs the crap out of me!
It all builds to a certain point, and then we both... take our frustrations out on each other.
SLAM!
SLAM!
SLAM!
SLAM!
A good deal of our marriage revolved around angry sex.

www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 19

That seems like a strange thing to build a relationship around.
Yeah!
C'mon! Angry sex is just the best!
Are you telling me neither of you ever got into an argument, and then turned that irritation into a passionate night?
Not really.
I mean, Thomas and I argue sometimes, but it never gets heated.
We have a "don't go to bed angry" policy.
That sounds pretty boring to me. Trust me, you don't know what you're missing.
What about you, Sabrina? Is your marriage as peaceful and yawn-inducing as hers?
Watch it.
I guess you could say that. RC and I are on the same page most of the time, so we rarely argue, even if we don't agree on everything or share all the same interests.
I'm not into his anime stuff for example, and he doesn't share my love for retro games and Amiga computers. He likes to tease me about those occasionally.
Sometimes he just won't let up, and then I dump on his Windows PCs, and then...
...
Well, it isn't terrible.
Ha!

www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 20

But you know there's more to a relationship than just sex, right?
OF course I do! Spike and I have kids too!
No, I'm talking about common interests - something other than just pure physical attraction!
Oh we have those, sure, but it definitely started physical. There's nothing weird about that.
Amy, back me up here!
Hmm...
Thomas and I got to know each other before going to bed together, but if I'm being honest, it might not have happened at all if we weren't attracted to each others' looks from the start.
Well, neither RC nor I knew what the other looked like at first. We talked by TEXT before we had video chat. We spent time learning about each other before we ever saw each other in person!
Having an internet boyfriend in another city doesn't automatically give you the moral high ground.
I'm not claiming superiority or anything, but we did put the time in getting to know each other before getting physical.
As I recall, you and your would-be husband had sex on your very First date! And before that-SHHHH!!!
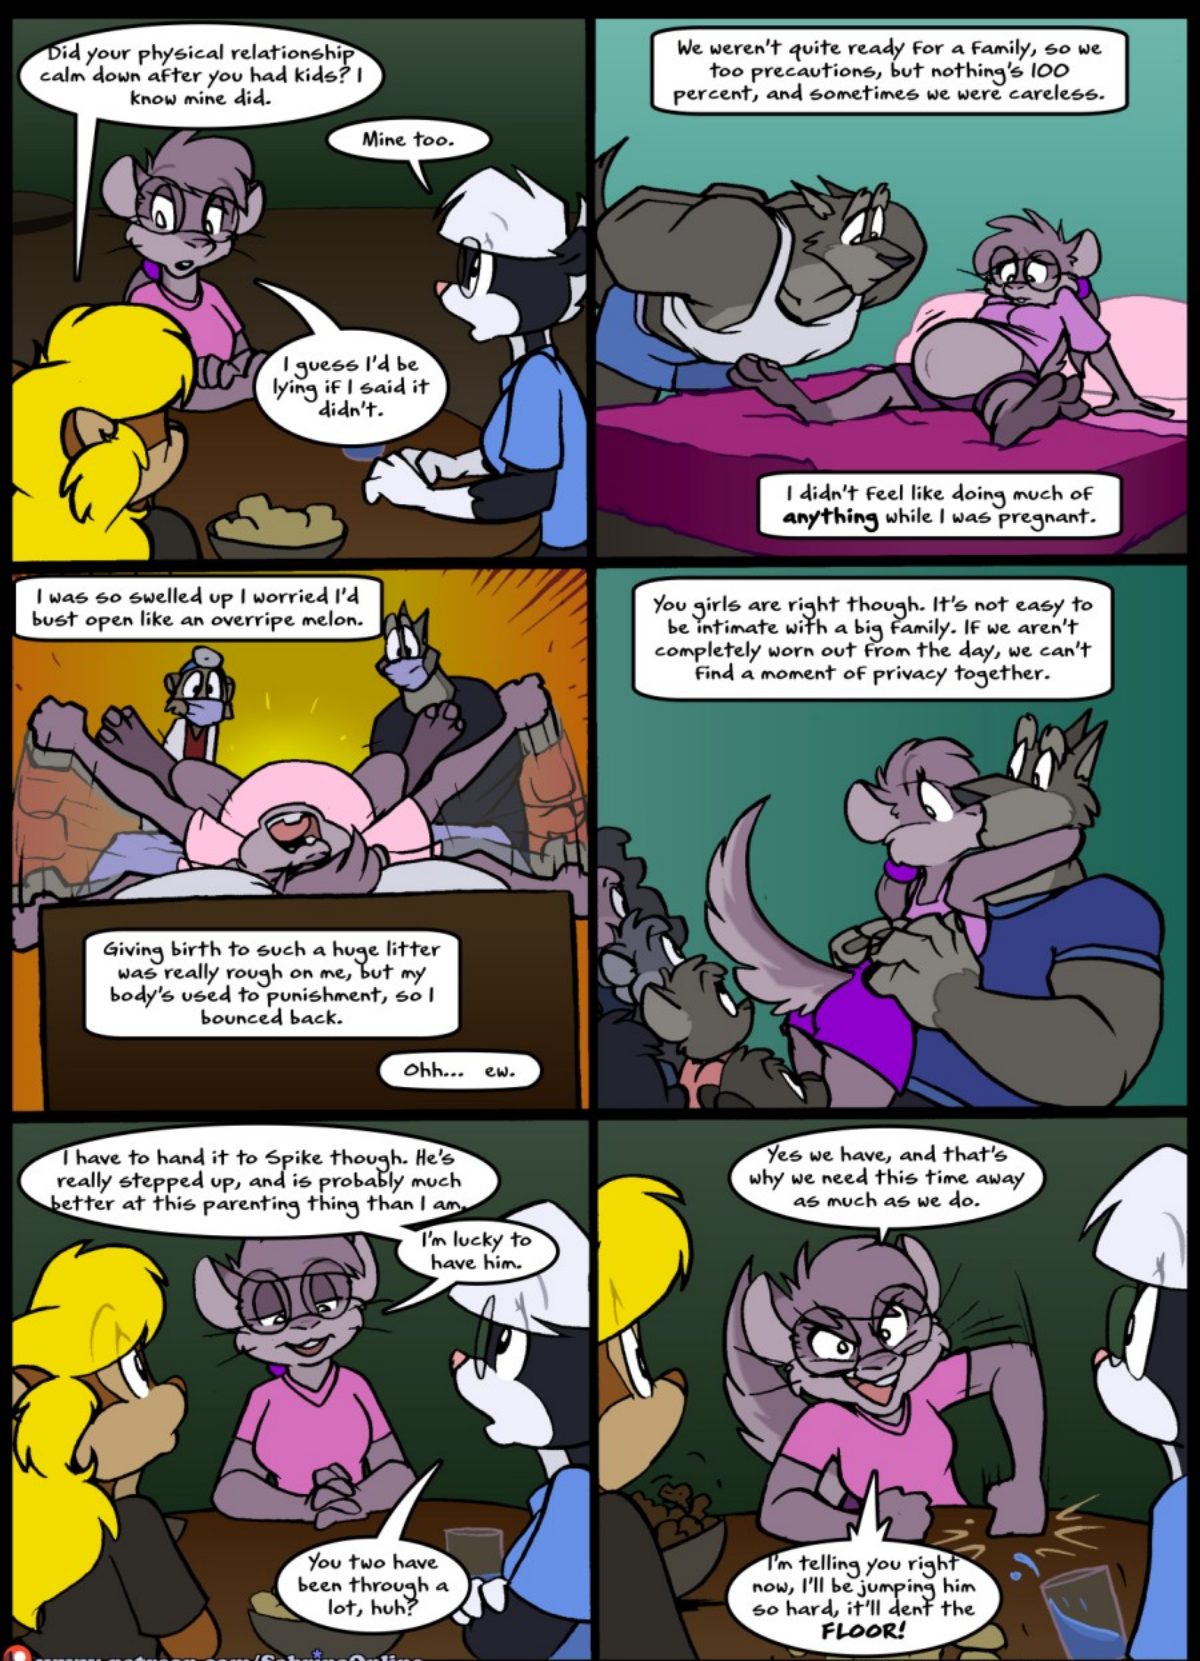
I'm just saying we were Friends First, is all.

www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 21

Well, since you obviously have the best marriage here, what makes yours such a success?
I don't...
I didn't say...
I... I...
I... don't know.
RC and I, we're good friends. We get along well. We have- SOME things in common, but I have no idea exactly why it works.
What about either of you?
It's about the same for me, really. I know we work well as a couple, but I never thought too hard about the reasons behind it.
Well I know!
I'm hot, Spike's very hot, our bodies fit together EXTREMELY well, and we both have lots of fun teasing and tormenting each other.
Well, at least you're confident!
heh.
Seriously though, I think trying to understand a relationship is overrated. It just happens!
The way I see it, the more you try to dissect and figure it all out, the more you run the risk of wrecking it all.
You're probably right.
Unfortunately, I'm not the best at allowing things to just go unexplained.

www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 22



Did your physical relationship calm down after you had kids? I know mine did.
Mine too.
I guess I'd be lying if I said it didn't.
We weren't quite ready for a family, so we too precautions, but nothing's 100 percent, and sometimes we were careless.
I didn't feel like doing much of anything while I was pregnant.
I was so swelled up I worried I'd bust open like an overripe melon.
Giving birth to such a huge litter was really rough on me, but my body's used to punishment, so I bounced back.
Ohh... ew.
You girls are right though. It's not easy to be intimate with a big family. If we aren't completely worn out from the day, we can't find a moment of privacy together.
I have to hand it to Spike though. He's really stepped up, and is probably much better at this parenting thing than I am.
I'm lucky to have him.
You two have been through a lot, huh?
Yes we have, and that's why we need this time away as much as we do.
I'm telling you right now, I'll be jumping him so hard, it'll dent the FLOOR!

Having a child is definitely an experience. I remember screaming my butt off when Timmy was born.
With Danielle, I... cursed.
a lot.
It was difficult for Thomas and I being new parents, but it got easier as Timmy grew older.
RC and I are still learning, but we're gaining experience at least.
We found that having a child brought the two of us even closer together. We went from just being a couple to being a family.
Ooh, I know what you mean!
Y'know, it's just like they say - I couldn't imagine life with a kid until we had Timmy, and now I can't imagine my life without one.
Oh, that is SO true!
Heh, you guys are cute.
What do you mean? Hasn't your life been enriched by having a family?
Yeah yeah yeah, s'magical and all that, but multiply that 'joy' a dozen or so times, and then see how enthusiastic you single-kid parents feel.
Hmm.

www.patreon.com/SabrinaOnline
©2021 Eric W. Schwartz - All Rights Reserved - Page 24

Well I'm sorry that we don't have enough children to become all jaded about it.
Come on now! Just because I'm worn out a lot, and I don't always keep everyone's names straight, it doesn't mean I still don't love each and every member of my family!
OF course I love all my children, and I love my husband!
Sure, we tease and mess with each other, but that's just the form our love takes!
Spike loves me for what I am, I do the same for him, and we share that love with our kids, and if that's not good enough for you, then-
Whoa! Hold on a sec! I didn't mean to imply that you didn't!
I mean, what you and Spike do is different from what Amy or I do with our husbands, but it obviously works for you.
If we came off sounding all judgey about it, then I apologize for that.
I've probably been a smidge over-sensitive too. I've been on edge for weeks. S'why I needed some time away.
Truce?
Truce.
Truce.
Either way, I'll be feeling much better after I get laid, so I hope you both get laid by your respective hubbies real soon!
Oh! uh, uhm... Okay.
Heh heh, sure.

I love Spike and he loves me, which is the bigger surprise, but if he's willing to love me for me, who am I to argue?
I think that's the thing, really. You can have attraction, passion, or whatever, but if you can't be happy with each other as you are, it's not going to work.
-not long-term, anyway.
That sounds about right to me. I always believed it was about being comfortable with each other, and comfortable with yourself when you're with him.
It reminds me of something RC said to me once.
You know something I love about you?
Hm?
I know you don't share my interests in anime, manga, and sci-Fi, but you don't judge me or think I'm being foolish. You're just happy I have something I enjoy.
You accept my interests, my figures, books, and videos, and I do the same with your toys, hobbies and interests as well.
That's tr-
wait.
You're down on me and my Amiga computers constantly!
That's different. That's a matter of objective technical superiority.
The HELL it is! Don't start with me, raccoon!
Exactly how are we meant to relate to this again?

Hey! What's going on over here?
Sorry Spike. Were we being loud?
Not really, and the place is basically empty.
I'm just here to let you know my shift is over.
YES! Our big night begins now!
Seems like a good excuse to pack it up.
Before we risk pissing each other off any further.
Yeah.
I'm out, Joey. It's all yours until closing.
Okay. Did anyone eat any of those chips or pretzels?
I... don't remember.
Ehh - I'll toss 'em back with the rest.
My car's parked around back.
Good. Can't wait to get home, change, and quit being a walking beer ad.
Bye Carli! I hope I get to see you again soon!
Bye Sabrina! Bye Amy!
So, what kinda things did you girls talk about?
Oh, just the usual catching up. We talked about our lives, and our husbands. I told 'em about the time we First met.
Yeah? Didja tell 'em about how you made me Feel like killing you, or the time I nearly did kill you?
BOTH! hee!

You're still driving this car, huh? I would've thought you'd move up to a family sedan or SUV by now.
I don't want to, but if Danielle gets much bigger, it may force the issue.
So, you wanna drop by my apartment for a bit, maybe say hi to the baby?
I'd like to, but I have a family of my own I need to get back to.
Ah, Okay. I understand.
Well...
hmm...
So, how about that Carli, huh?
I KNOW, right? How does a couple like that even work?
I have no idea.
Who could actually enjoy all that adversarial stuff in their marriage!?
Certainly not me.
Heh, I give 'em a month, tops.
HA!
heh, heh,
hehh...
Of course technically, She and Spike have been married longer than either of us.
Yeah...
but that's like, the exception that proves the rule, or something.
Ohhh... kay.

So, you planning on picking up some stranger for a one-night stand?
EXIT
Oh Zig, don't talk like that!
Hey Joey. Is Amy not working tonight?
Naw, her shift ended a little while ago.
Spike's not here either?
That's right. His wife picked him up, and they left together with Amy and her friend.
Friend?
Some skunk with big glasses.
Oh my God Sabrina was here? And I missed it?
Wow, that's quite the coincidence!
I'm surprised you missed 'em. They sat around talking for a long time, and just left a few minutes ago.
SERIOUSLY!? awww!!
Well that's fine. We don't need them to have an enjoyable evening all on our own.
I'll try, but missed opportunities of this scale make me really cranky.

Mommy!
Hiya, kiddo! Did you have a good day?
I helped Daddy at work!
That's great! uh - You didn't eat anything from Daddy's store, did you?
No Mom.
Good. Now, it's past your bedtime.
Mommy's home!
Hey, hon. How are ya tonight?
Sick of sponsorship. I'll be changing for bed in a minute.
You were with Sabrina, right? How is she doing?
She's good. We spent the evening talking and catching up - her, and me, and Spike's wife Carli.
That's nice. I knew you were looking forward to spending time with her.
Yeah...
Do you - think we argue enough?
Huh?

Welcome home. *
How was Danielle?
Not too bad. Had a few minor arguments over phone privileges, but I smoothed things over by fixing a taco dinner.
Sorry I missed it.
How did your taxi errand go?
Pretty good actually. I got to spend quality time catching up with Amy, and Carli was there too.
Really? That sounds like a fun time.
Sort of. We mostly talked about our respective families and relationships, coming to a committee decision that a good marriage is about loving and accepting your mate for what they are.
Sounds right to me. I always felt it's all about being comfortable together, and not having to worry about saying something dumb, or having bad gas, or telling a cringe joke, or whatever.
That's almost exactly what I told-
SNIF.
Oh, COME ON!!
I love you!
END!
